Lend-Lease Cancellation Draws Opposition

BALANCING OF ACCOUNTS, AIM OF SENATORS

Territorial Settlements Sought In Exchange For War Aid

OUTRIGHT GIFTS HIT

Demand Made That U. S. Go To Peace Table With Prepared Program

WASHINGTON, July 19—Demand was made on Capitol Hill today that the United States go to the peace table prepared to insist on territorial settlements in exchange for war aid.

It was accompanied by suggestions that this country also bargain for free access to natural resources everywhere to make up for war depletion of its own mineral, metal and oil deposits.

These statements followed expressions in the British parliament, and frequently repeated elsewhere, that the United States cancel Lend-Lease debts of the United Nations.

"These references in parliament to cancelling of the debt are part of a program initiated nearly a year ago looking to avoidance of balancing accounts," said Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R) N. D., a member of the foreign affairs committee.

Old Debt Recalled

"In view of the fact that we got little or nothing on debts from the last war, I do not think we should now cancel Lend-Lease and make outright gifts of our aid. We should get something for the billions we are paying out to aid others."

"Whether this will be in cash, trade advantages or concessions such as use of strategic islands, I am not prepared to say now. But we might consider as part payment, airway or similar rights where the British Empire is involved. We should be fair but we should not be writing off these obligations."

Nye's stand was endorsed both by Sen. Alexander Wiley (R) Wis., and Sen. Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith (D) S. C.

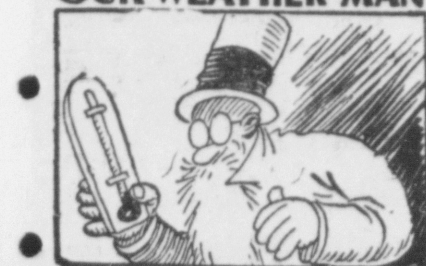

"The statements in parliament are an expression that some of the British do not want to have any legal or moral obligation to us," Smith asserted. "I do not believe cancellation would be a proper course for us to take."

Land Concessions

"I do think it would be fair if other nations, in exchange for Lend-Lease, gave us certain strategically located islands. We might well extend the Monroe doctrine a little bit to take in these places for our protection in the future. We might also be given some territory where there are valuable minerals which we should have."

Wiley suggested that the first step be acquisition of fee title to those islands where we now have ship and aircraft bases and that the second step be to acquire islands in both Atlantic and Pacific (Continued on Page Two)

BYRNES ACTS TO AVOID CRISES

War Mobilization Chief Orders Long Range Study Of Civilian Needs

WASHINGTON, July 19—War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, it was learned on high authority today, has ordered a long-range study of over-all military and civilian requirements in an effort to avoid breakdowns on the home front.

There was a possibility that Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board during World War I, would be called upon to head up the latest fact-finding effort.

Baruch, whose study of the rubber crisis for President Roosevelt resulted in the creation of an independent rubber administration with William M. Jeffers as its head, has indicated his availability for similar tasks. When Byrnes was named to head the office of War Mobilization, he publicly announced that he intended to make greater use of Baruch in the capacity of unofficial adviser.

Byrnes' decision to probe military and civilian needs was viewed as a further indication that the war mobilizer is seeking to establish a long-range pattern for the American economy, comparable to over-all strategy formulated to carry on the war on the battle fronts.

Purpose of the study, according to informed sources, is to weigh military and civilian needs in the light of existing supplies of metals and materials, and with consideration to production facilities. It is apparent from the outline (Continued on Page Two)

VERSATILE COPS SOLVE PUZZLE FOR WAR WORKER

NEW YORK, July 19—It's all in the day's work for New York patrolmen. Having completed their tour of duty, two policemen — Francis Cook and Howard Hegerick — were approached by John Hartman, 25, who announced excitedly: "I got two kids at home crying for their breakfast. Helen, my wife, is having a baby in the bedroom, and I got a defense job that I got to get to."

The officers went home with Hartman, got the children's breakfast ready, delivered the 7½-pound baby boy, and sent the father on his way to work.

NATION FACING FURTHER CUT IN RATIONED GAS

Petroleum Council Issues Gloomy Report On National Shortage

QUICK ACTION EXPECTED

Board Okehs Ickes Plan For Equalization Of East Of Rockies Area

WASHINGTON, July 19 — The nation east of the Rockies today appeared headed for reduced gasoline allotments despite assured improvement in transportation facilities.

Just as the gas-short eastern states were given hope for more fuel, the Petroleum Industry War Council reported that there is now an overall shortage of gasoline.

Conflicting with Sen. James M. Mead (D) N. Y., who said that "the situation now looks brighter," the council said it is obvious that very soon gasoline "must be further rationed because of a shortage of gasoline rather than a shortage of transportation."

The council endorsed the plan of Petroleum Administrator Ickes for rationing equalization for all areas east of the Rockies which would give the Atlantic seaboard more fuel but it appeared that further reductions for the entire area will now be necessary because of the shortages of gas itself.

Further Cut Looms

Eastern motorists with "A" ration books now are entitled to a gallon and a half of gas a week, none of which can be used for pleasure driving, while drivers in the Midwest and Southwest are allowed four gallons to be used for any purpose. Ickes' equalization plan had been expected to make the "A" coupon worth between two and three gallons for every one in the area east of the Rockies, but there were no as-

VILLAGE HAS NO USE FOR JAIL AND NO BUYERS

WINTHROP HARBOR, ILL., July 19—Village President Frank Rohde was getting pretty well discouraged today. He can't get rid of the village jail.

Law violations being just about at an all-time low, the cost of maintaining the jail with no guests whatever seemed a needless expenditure. So Rohde announced he would like to dispose of the building and would refuse no reasonable offer.

But there were no offers, reasonable or unreasonable. Rohde's next step, he said, would be a recommendation to the village board that the several tons of steel bars and other metal equipment be given away as scrap.

Largest Draft Group Of Months Leaves For Ohio Induction Center

Pickaway county Selective Service board sent its July draft contingent to the induction center in Columbus Monday, the number of men included in the contingent being the largest sent from the county in several months.

Men accepted will be inducted and then permitted furloughs. Draftees taken for the army will be given furloughs lasting three weeks, while men taken for navy and marine corps will receive seven day leaves.

Publication of the list of accepted men is permitted after the draft board receives official notice from the induction center, this procedure usually requiring about 48 hours. Names of men rejected may not be published.

Included in the list which left Circleville at 8 a. m. aboard buses were boys who recently graduated from high school, men who are married and have wives only as dependents and others whose Se-

This Is What F. D. R., Churchill Offer Italians

QUESTION of life or death has been put squarely to the Italian people by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who issued a virtual ultimatum to Mussolini's populace that it must "decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and civilization." The Allied leaders might well have meant what is shown in this photo as a promise

If the Italians surrender. Smiles cover the faces of Americans and Sicilians alike as Pvt. George Katere of Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Pfc. William Mosa of Wheeling, W. Va., and Pvt. Jesse A. YANKS CHEERED BY SICILIANS

Hungry Natives Give Food, Encouragement As Troops Occupy Caltagirone

WITH U. S. FORCES ON THE CALTIGIRONE FRONT, SICILY, July 16—(Delayed)—Civilians who had practically nothing to eat themselves offered us food and cheered us lustily today as we entered Caltagirone after driving enemy forces out in a surprise attack at dawn.

During the early morning assault, a small American unit's light artillery at point blank range knocked out five Nazi tanks, two armored cars and a German plane in one of the most unusual and dramatic fights of this campaign.

The Americans took up a precarious position overlooking Caltagirone at 4 a. m., undetected by the enemy, after a night-long march from the Biscari airport. Enroute they had encountered a patrol of 30 enemy troops, led by German officers, and killed or captured them all before they could sound a warning.

When Lieut. Col. Clarence B. Cochran of Okema, Okla., learned the Americans had taken up their position squarely in the middle of a German tank park and munitions dump, he immediately ordered guns brought up and posted rifles men behind a stone wall only 50 (Continued on Page Two)

RETAILERS POP OUT OF BUSINESS AT RAPID RATE

CHICAGO, July 19—The toll of retail business taken by the war was indicated today by the report of authorities that one out of every seven retail business men in Cook county (Chicago) who were paying state sales taxes before Pearl Harbor now has gone out of business.

The decrease in retailers was heaviest among those selling consumers' goods made of strategic materials, such as automobiles, radios, refrigerators, electrical household appliances and the like. Household businesses in gasoline, tires and service.

However, 1,130 taverns were among the estimated 10,000 business casualties in the county.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Well, Mussolini's balcony is beginning to wobble.

Churchill has hold of one brace and Roosevelt's got the other and they've begun shaking it and the first thing you know Il Duce will be in the arms of the populace waiting below.

They'll shake him down like an over-ripe plum, and a good thing, too, but the world will learn no lesson from it.

There will always be ambitious men and ambitious followers to hang on to their togas, and we should have considerably more respect for the brash loud-mouth leaders than the sneaky ward heelers who peek out each morning to see what flag to raise today.

We saw it in Africa where the Allies were received with open arms by people who had been trafficking with the Axis for years and we see it again in Sicily.

Those pictures of the citizens slapping their "deliverers" on the back and pelting them with flowers give us no thrill.

Sure they hate Mussolini now—he's going down for the third time.

But they loved him when he had it.

Thought for the day: Keep your powder dry and don't trust anybody.

DRASTIC SHIFTS PLANNED BY FDR

Home Front Control To Be Given To Three Democrats From Southland

WASHINGTON, July 19—President Roosevelt today is planning several drastic changes in his administration to solve national economic problems, while giving full power to three conservative southern Democrats to rule the home front.

Close friends say the President will reorganize the administration's food, gas-oil and possibly rubber agencies long before congress returns from its Summer recess in September. After these reorganizations, Mr. Roosevelt will turn over the home front to his "deputy president", former Senator James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, and the latter's two assistants, Judge Fred M. Vinson, of Kentucky, and Judge Marvin Jones, of Texas.

This means the present "big three"—Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, New York Judge Samuel L. Rosenman and Harry L. Hopkins—are to be sidetracked, so far as the public is concerned. They may even be deposed, but certainly will be taken out of the "show window." Hopkins may even lose his White House residence by being sent (Continued on Page Two)

30,000 WATCH AS RUSS QUILSINGS DIE BY NOOSE

MOSCOW, July 19—The hanging of eight Russian "Quislings" before a crowd of 30,000 in the public square of Krasnodar, liberated city in the Russian Caucasus, was described today by the Moscow radio.

The hangings, first in Soviet history, followed the first mass treason trial in Russia since the German invasion, at which three others were sentenced to 20 years at hard labor. All had been convicted of helping the Germans "in the preparation of atrocities" during the Nazi occupation of Krasnodar.

Firing squads carried out all previous executions in the Soviet Union. Army newspaper Red Star declared execution on the gallows was stipulated in the death sentences because that method is "more shameful."

Rome Told To Beware Duce Tricks

Bombs May Be Dropped On City's Center, Vatican To Stir Hatred

NEW YORK, July 19 — Leaflets dropped during today's raid on Rome warned that the Fascist government, in order to convince the Italian people of Allied designs on cultural monuments, may "arrange for bombs to be dropped on the center of Rome and even on Vatican City."

The leaflet warned the Italian capital's residents to beware of a move by Mussolini's government to portray today's Allied attack as an attempt "to destroy those cultural monuments which are the glory not only of Rome, but of the civilized world."

Quoted by the Algiers radio in a broadcast reported to the OWI, the leaflet said: "We have declared, and we repeat, that we shall be aiming at military objectives."

Text of the statement:

"To citizens of Rome:

"You have already been warned that military objectives in the vicinity of Rome are liable to be bombed by the Allied air forces. When this occurs the Fascist government, who have consistently concealed from you facts about the war, will pretend we are trying to destroy those cultural monuments which are the glory not only of Rome but of the civilized world."

"It is possible, moreover, in order to lend plausibility to their lying statement, that the Fascist government or their German authorities will themselves arrange for bombs to be dropped on the center of Rome and even on Vatican City."

"We leave it to your intelligence to decide whether it is likely that we should waste our effort on targets whose destruction is useless for our purpose."

"We have declared, and we repeat, that we shall be aiming at military objectives: communications, war industries, military installations, airports, all of which work for the sole interest of the Germans. These objectives have been carefully chosen and our pilots have been specially trained in accurate bombing."

"It is, however, impossible while aiming at military objectives to avoid some destruction to civilian buildings. It is our intention to reduce this destruction to a minimum. Since our attack will be in the daylight, you will be able to see for yourselves that these statements are true."

TRIAL FLIGHT SET FOR FIRST OF AIR BOXCARS

CHICAGO, July 19—The first of the "Flying Boxcars" produced at the new $33,000,000 Douglas aircraft company Chicago plant will get its trial flight July 30, John D. Weaver, plant manager, announced today.

The "Flying Boxcar" is a C-54 cargo-carrying plane, known by the company as the "Skymaster." It is capable of transporting 15 tons of freight or 50 fully equipped soldiers.

The Douglas plant on Chicago's northwest outskirts was built especially to produce the giant four-engined cargo-carriers, which also are being constructed in California. The date of the trial flight will be just 10 months after construction of the plant was begun.

Douglas officials said they were not permitted to disclose the speed of the "Skymaster," but that it was "terrific."

ROBOT FIGHTS AXIS

WASHINGTON, July 19 — A newly-developed robot aiming device designed for army tanks in motion has increased their firing accuracy several hundred percent, it was disclosed today. The robot, known as the gyro-stabilizer, is another in the army's arsenal of "secret" weapons which are calculated to take the guesswork out of gunfire.

BLASTS AIMED AT PREVENTING AID TO SICILY

Airmen Ordered To Avoid Cultural Buildings Of All Kinds

RAILS, PLANTS POUNDED

Americans, Canadians And British All Continue Island Advance

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 19 — All Rome radio stations suddenly were off the air this afternoon.

It was thought likely that Allied reconnaissance planes were overhead to survey damage done in a heavy attack some hours earlier.

By International News Service

Under strict orders to spare cathedrals, churches, monuments and "cultural establishments" of any kind, big Allied bombers heavily attacked military objectives in the city of Rome today to halt dispatch of Axis reinforcements to the island of Sicily.

The Sicilian land advances continued, meanwhile, with American troops seizing the town of Caltanissetta, 30 miles inland from Agrigento.

Main British forces fought their way to within three miles of Catania. An official announcement disclosed that Axis prisoners taken on Sicily now total 35,000.

Bulletin

NEW YORK, July 16—Italian units on the island of Sicily "are coming over en bloc in clearly organized surrender," a BBC broadcast from Algiers reported today, according to CBS.

000, of whom 23,000 were captured by American troops and 12,000 by the British.

The Canadian troops furthered the Allied advance with capture of Piazza Amerina.

Scorza Answered

The attack on Rome followed an impassioned appeal by Cairo Scorza, secretary-general of the Fascist party, to the Italian people. Speaking in place of a strangely-silent Premier Mussolini, Scorza called on Italy to "resist, resist, resist," warning that defeat or capitulation would transform the Italian people into "Slaves of Anglo-Saxon Judaism."

All official releases by Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters made clear the attack was a heavy one and was designed for the sole purpose of choking off the shipment of new troops and materials to embattled Sicily.

DELAY SEEN IN INQUIRY INTO OAKES SLAYING

NASSAU, Bahamas, July 19—Because police were still investigating "new angles" to the July 8 murder of Sir Harry Oakes, multi-millionaire American-born baronet, the preliminary hearing today of his son-in-law, Count Alfred De Marigny, who is held in connection with the crime, appeared likely to be adjourned a second time.

Several crown witnesses, recalled for further questioning, were closeted behind carefully guarded doors with Capt. E. W. Melchen, Miami homicide bureau chief, who declared he wants to review all signed statements and check them against his own notes taken at the time of the original questioning a week ago.

In addition to recalling previous witnesses, Nassau authorities were said to have summoned Harold G. Christie, a friend of the Oakes family, to give additional details of the discovery of Sir Harry's body and to tell more of what he knew about the millionaire's friends and enemies.

the war home to the heart and soul of Italy.

They were told to avoid "cultural objectives" of any description and instructed to concentrate their bombs upon the vital network of railways operating out of Rome. Their orders were to keep damage to a minimum. Men well acquainted with the layout of Rome were on hand to give detailed instructions, particularly with regard to where the boundaries of Vatican City abut on the limits of Rome itself.

Churches Spared

Cathedrals, churches, cultural establishments, monuments, seats of learning and of science, historic shrines and structures dear to Christendom were placed upon the prohibited list. The raid was made in daylight and the most experienced pilots and bombardiers chosen for the job.

"In some cases," an official statement said, "high-powered generating plants—important targets for our planes—are built so close to shrines that vibrations can be felt in the Holy precincts."

In other words, some damage not intended may be inescapable. But no precautions were overlooked in the planning of the attack to ensure that insofar as possible in the human equation, destruction would be visited only on objectives vitally contributive to the war into which Mussolini cynically plunged his people three years, one month and nine days ago.

The people of Rome had many advance warnings that when the exigencies of war demanded it, their city would be bombed. Time and again in the British house of commons Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had announced that Rome could not forever be spared the horrors of war, any more than London was spared, or Canterbury, Coventry, Plymouth, or Cardiff.

Mussolini Hiding

An authoritative spokesman said: "More pains were taken to prevent the bombing of religious and cultural Rome than Mussolini, hiding in his palace during today's raid, ever took."

"Over a period of years, Mussolini designedly brought more war plants and arsenals to Rome. He increased the size of the big marshalling yards and his Fascist gangsters built many of their war factories on the outskirts of the Vatican."

"It is from this war engine that weapons to kill our soldiers have been coming. Rome is one of the most important—if not the most important—distribution center for men and materials in Italy."

"German troops move in and out of Rome habitually. Therefore, it is a key point of distribution and plays a big role in the Italian war strategy."

For months, it was pointed out, the railway lines leading out of Rome and sidings within the city limits have been jammed with German troops.

Troops Advance

The attack on Rome came as tanks of the British Eighth Army and crack Nazi units were locked in bitter battle in the suburbs of Caserta, key city in the battle for Sicily.

An unconfirmed report received in London said tank fighting already was in progress in streets of the east coast city. The Algiers radio reported British warships were shelling the road from Catania to Messina in the north. The same source also said naval units bombarded Axis troops attempting to regroup at the foot of Mount Etna, between the two cities.

Besides the frontal assault on Catania, the city was menaced by a second British column pushing inland toward Paternò and threatening to outflank the defenders. The second column also menaced the nine-pronged network of air-dromes at Gerbini.

To the south, one American column was pressing inland in the Gela area towards Enna, pivotal Axis base in Sicily, and other American forces were firmly in possession of Fort Empedocle and Agrigento.

Reports from the Russian front indicated that the Red army was meeting stiffened resistance in its advance toward the pivotal German base at Orel, 200 miles south of Moscow. The Moscow newspaper Pravda reported Soviet tanks had pushed deep behind the Nazi lines and almost reached the gates of the city.

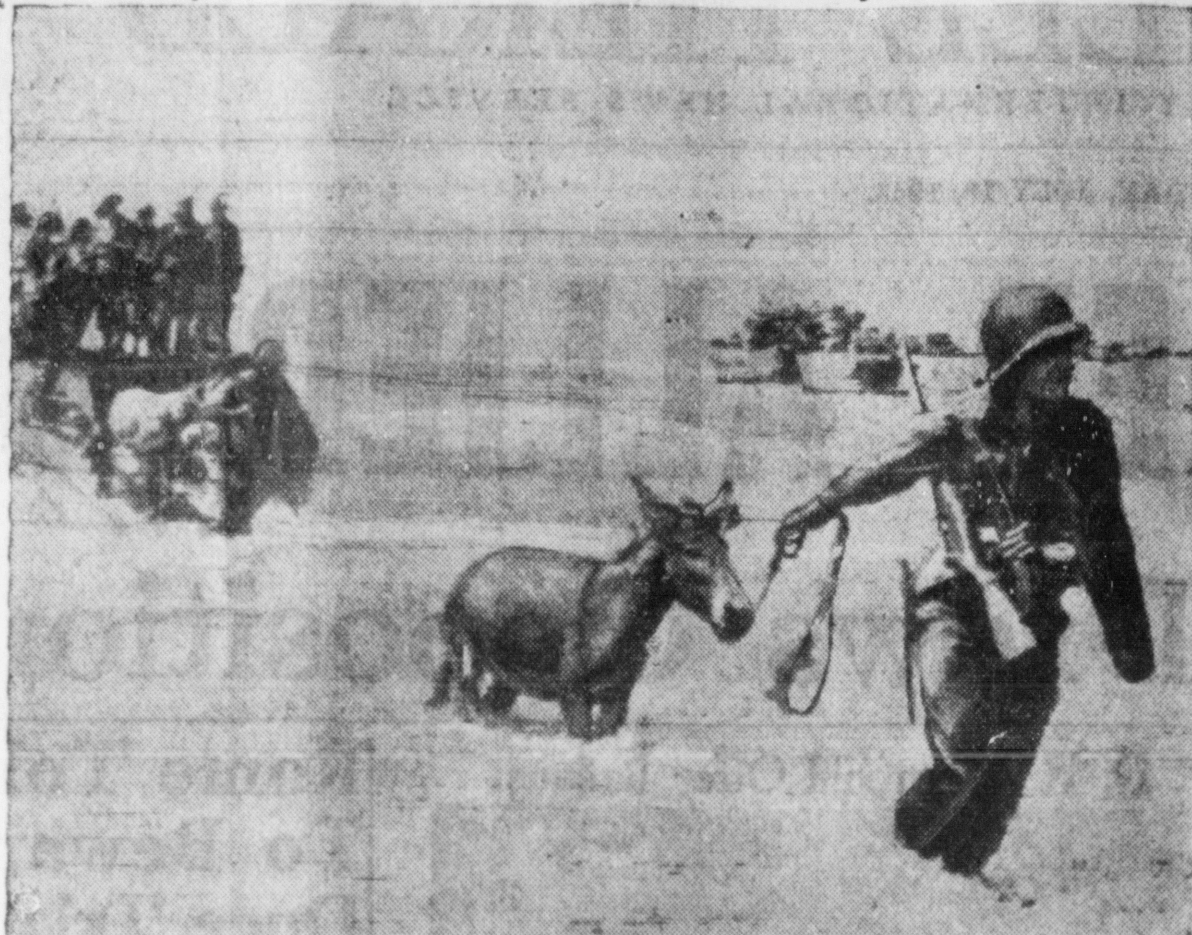

Russians Move Ahead

The main body of the Soviets was reported within 10 miles of the Orel-Bryansk railroad. Nazi reinforcements to the Orel front pass along this vital rail link.

The latest Moscow communiqué reported a four-mile gain yesterday in the drive on Orel, although hilly terrain and many water courses were said to aid the defenders.

There was no confirmation in the Russian capital of German assertions that the Soviets have lost.

Army Brings Its Most Stubborn Ally To Sicily

MOST stubborn, but likewise one of the most helpful kinds of "equipment" landed on Sicily by American forces is the famous Army mule. Soldiers are pictured above leading the beasts ashore from a landing barge. The mules probably will prove extremely valuable in the mountains of the island. U. S. Army Signal Corps radio-photo.

of the study that Byrnes wishes to avoid any crises which loom as a possibility, should concentration on war manufacturing bring neglect of civilian needs to the point where transportation, communications, or other public utilities collapse because of overlooked repair needs.

It was pointed out that the telephone industry—strained to the breaking point under the impact of war—has been functioning with a meager 10 percent of the materials it used during 1941. Railroads, vital to the war production, have been operating with less than their minimum requirements of new equipment, as steel capacity has been devoted to the output of ships, tanks and guns.

Other public services, all vital to the maintenance of war production, such as street car systems, bus lines, air lines, city water and sewage systems, gas and electric companies, hospitals, and public institutions of all kinds, have been "getting by" by the skin of their teeth," officials declare.

The Byrnes study is designed to bring these needs into balance with war production requirements.

Gathering information to be used as a base for the probe, Byrnes already has requested the Office of Civilian Requirements of the War Production Board to submit a report on civilian needs, and likewise has called on the war and navy departments and the maritime commission to submit schedules of their future procurement and manufacturing programs.

opened new drives in the Donets basin, along the Mius river and in the western Caucasus, all on the southern front.

In the Pacific war theater, allied headquarters disclosed that American warships had scored two new victories, both off the west coast of Kolombangara island in the Solomons. In the first clash, three enemy destroyers were hit. In the second engagement, light naval units routed six Japanese destroyers after scoring a torpedo hit on one.

Japs Blasted

Allied torpedo planes and dive-bombers dumped 44 tons of missiles on the Munda area of New Georgia, where American group troops are within one mile of the key enemy airport. The Buin-Faisi area to the northwest was assaulted by huge formations of American Liberator bombers, dive-bombers and torpedo planes, which rained 90 tons of bombs and incendiaries on the Kahili airdrome and shipping.

Other bombers attacked enemy positions before the big Jap base at Salamaua, New Guinea, where sharp clashes between Japanese and Australian troops were reported. American lightning fighter planes chased a greatly superior force of 50 Zeros over New Guinea. Two of the Zeros were knocked out, four more were probably shot down and two others damaged. None of the American planes was lost.

ELMER HARLEY MERRIMAN DIES AT CITY HOME

Elmer Harley Merriman, Jr., 26, died Monday at 11 a. m. at his home, West Union street, of complications. He had been seriously ill for the last two weeks.

A native of Circleville, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Merriman, 226 Town street. Survivors in addition to the parents are his widow, Ruth Kanode Merriman; a daughter Jo Ann, and a brother, Charles William, West Franklin street.

Mr. Merriman was a former assistant pressman for the Circleville Herald.

Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the residence, the Rev. Harold Myers of the Church of the Brethren officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by the Dorenbaugh funeral home. The body will be at the home, West Union street, after Tuesday noon where friends may call.

BENJAMIN ROUTT DIES SUNDAY IN U. S. HOSPITAL

Benjamin Routt, widely known peace officer who served as a military policeman in Circleville during World War I, died Sunday at 2:30 a. m. in U. S. Veterans' hospital, near Chillicothe. Routt was a resident of Chillicothe.

Mr. Routt had served as a Ross county deputy sheriff and had also held other law enforcement jobs in the last 15 years.

Survivors include his widow, Alice Pennix Routt, two daughters, Alicia and Ruth Ann, and a son, Robert, who is a member of the marines. His parents also survive, residing in Indianapolis.

Funeral will be Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Ware funeral home, Chillicothe, with burial also there. Mr. Routt was a personal friend of Police Chief W. F. McCrady and Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

abroad on an important political-diplomatic mission.

Thus, the President will head into the 1944 election year with three southern Democrats running the home show. This move may silence reported southern opposition to a fourth term. Its real purpose is said to be to solve vital domestic problems, silence bickering and confusion within his administration and prepare the home front for two more years of exhaustive warfare in which to crush both Hitlerite Germany and Hirohito's Japan.

On top of his recent order to administration officials to "shut up or get out," the President will issue another ultimatum: "play ball or get out." Even veteran members of his administration, who resent the approaching changes, will be told to untily to resign in order to make way for new names and new faces.

The President is pictured by intimates as determined to "clean house" of every person in the government who appears to be interfering with his war program on the home front. One or two officials, suspected of an overwhelming lust for power, will be asked either to forego their ambitions or get out.

LOCAL SOLDIER OCCUPIES STALL OF SEABISCUIT

Private First Class Elmer Robison, son of Elmer Robison of Circleville, is not making any plans to become a race-horse, but he is occupying a stall at the Santa Anita, Cal., race track formerly assigned to the great runner, Seabiscuit.

Young Robison wrote his father today that his outfit, Company D, 29th battalion, is stationed at the Santa Anita race track and that many of the boys are sleeping in stalls formerly used for the horses. "Occasionally we get an odor left behind by the runners," the soldier wrote to his father.

PFC Robison is attending school at Camp Santa Anita while training for army duty.

Young Robison might come up with a new slogan: "Seabiscuit Slept Here," to replace the one: "George Washington Slept Here."

H. A. JENINGS DIES IN PRISON CAMP OF JAPS

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Jennings of Columbus, former residents of the Williamsport community, have been informed by the War department that their son, Lieutenant Harvey A. Jennings, 30, has died of beri-beri in a Japanese prison camp. Beri-beri is an ailment induced by improper diet.

Lieutenant Jennings was the foster grandson of Mrs. Jack Wardell, 321 South Pickaway street.

The lieutenant was a member of a tank unit which fought the Japanese prior to the fall of Bataan. He was a graduate of Columbus South high school and attended Ohio State university. In addition to his parents he is survived by a brother, Harold, and a sister, Mrs. Frances Martin of Detroit.

Petroleum Council Issues Gloomy Report On National Shortage

surances that this much fuel will be heallowed in view of the petroleum council's report.

Meanwhile, Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., head of the eastern "gasoline bloc," declared that his group would continue to press for relief of the eastern coast fuel situation.

In regard to Ickes' statement that equalization between the East and Midwest would help the Atlantic seaboard within 30 or 60 days, Hartley said that "we want action and we want it now."

Hartley declared that people of the east coast are getting fed up with excuses and alibis and said that "they want less gas and more gasoline from Washington."

Before issuance of the Petroleum Council's gloomy report Sen. Mead said that the outlook for the East coast shortage area is better than it was a year ago because of improved transportation facilities. In addition to five pipelines either completed or under construction, tank cars, barges and ships in the months to come, Mead said, will be helping to relieve conditions in the seaboard states.

The entire gasoline situation is being investigated by War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes.

WORKERS BLAST "BIG INCH" WAY ACROSS DARBY

Contractors were ready Monday to start putting the big crude oil pipe line, which runs from Texas to New Jersey, through the bed of Darby creek after blasting a path for the line Sunday with dynamite.

No difficulty was anticipated by C. S. Foreman Co. contractor in the Pickaway county area. Very little rock was encountered.

Completion of the line across Darby creek will leave only Deer creek uncrossed in this district. Efforts to blast a path through solid stone in Deer creek proved to be fruitless; the rock still standing. Drilling apparatus has been moved to the creek and an effort to make a path for the "big inch" will be started at once. Drilling work is necessarily slow so from two to four weeks may be required to complete the line across Pickaway county.

Scioto river was crossed without difficulty, no blasting being necessary there except on both banks of the stream where stumps were removed. More than 1,000 pounds of dynamite were used in the attempt to blast a way across Deer creek.

LOCAL DRAFT APPEAL RESTS WITH PRESIDENT

Draft classification of Amos Hollenbeck, Ashville, rests today in the hands of President Roosevelt.

Pickaway county Selective Service office was notified Monday that Colonel Chester W. Goble, state director of Selective Service, has appealed to the President from the 3-A classification given Hollenbeck by the district board of appeals.

The local board had placed Hollenbeck in I-A, holding that he was in an industry listed as non-essential. The district board's reversal placed him in 3-A.

MRS. MARY E. LOGSDON, 73, DIES AT RURAL HOME

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Logsdon, 73, died at her home in Madison township Sunday at 10 p. m. of complications following a long illness. She was the widow of Calvin H. Logsdon, who died eight years ago, and a member of widely known family of Pickaway county. Born April 27, 1870, she was the daughter of Jesse and Elizabeth Ann Millar Musselman.

Surviving sons are Grant, Wilda, Ray, Thomas and Walter Logsdon of Columbus; Glen of Thornville and Clarence of Ashville. A daughter, Mrs. Maude Hines of Duval, also survives in addition to a sister, Mrs. Martha Brown, of Delaware.

Funeral services will be in the Lockbourne Lutheran church Wednesday at 2 p. m. with the Rev. H. D. Fudge officiating. Burial in charge of E. F. Schlegel of Ashville will be in Fernwood cemetery, Lockbourne.

TO THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

SUBJECT: A RECOMMENDATION...

FROM THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE U. S.

Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D. C.

CHAMBERS OF
THE CHIEF JUSTICE
1829 TWENTY-FOURTH STREET N.W.

June 29, 1943

The Honorable
The Secretary of the Treasury
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Secretary:

Both you and the country are to be congratulated on the striking success of the Voluntary Payroll Savings Plan. Through it twenty-seven million wage earners are regularly investing in Government bonds more than $420,000,000 a month to meet the cost of the war. This is of primary importance as an aid to winning the war and as a safeguard against inflation. But it is also important that so many of our fellow citizens are reviving the forgotten art of saving from earnings. One way of securing freedom from want in the future is by saving something from the plenty of today.

Yours sincerely,

Harlan F. Stone

FROM THE CONGRESS OF THE U. S.

Congress of the United States
JOINT COMMITTEE ON INTERNAL REVENUE TAXATION
Washington

June 29, 1943

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Thank you for sending us the description of your expanded payroll savings drive based on the theme "Figure It Out Yourself". The House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee are happy to support the present drive to increase the purchases of War Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

This plan has already achieved a fine record. The fact that twenty-seven million American workingmen and women are setting aside almost ten percent of every pay envelope and salary check speaks for itself.

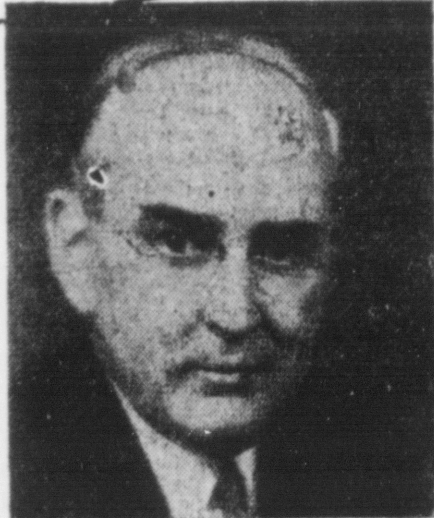

We agree with you, however, that public participation in the financing of this war should be and must be stepped up materially. Not only does the Treasury need added funds, but every dollar diverted from the purchasing stream into savings is a contribution to the fight against inflation. We wish you success in this campaign and we know that the American people will respond to this appeal as they have in the past.

sincerely,

Hon. Henry Morgenthau, Jr.
Secretary of the Treasury

SHIPS BY THOUSANDS
THE immense preparation required for modern warfare on a big scale is almost incomprehensible. The British-American expedition to Africa, which resulted in the liberation of that continent from the Axis, was said to be the largest up to that time, but the expedition against Sicily is much larger. The whole armada of fighting and supply ships and troop ships and miscellaneous auxiliary craft is reckoned at 2,000 vessels.
It is evident that there is no more such a possibility as a modern army "living off the country" as it moves on its appointed course. Vast stores of everything have to be carried with it, especially in a marine expedition. It is almost a complete and independent organization, much like the ancient, predatory movements of savage tribes, except for its enormous complexity.
It would be fascinating to have lists of all the materials carried on an expedition like the present one against Sicily; their number and variety would be overwhelming. And it may be expected that still larger and more complex expeditions will sail later on, against Europe and against Japan.

RISE IDEALS
"THE zoot-suiters, the jitterbug dancers and the marihuana orchestras are symptoms of the insanity which afflicts our time," says a disgusted minister. "These are counterparts of the flagpole sitters, the marathon dancers and the gold-fish swallows of yesterday, and they indicate how people lack spiritual guidance. The world situation might well tempt us to despair; but we may yet believe that we are only in one of those relapses of civilization which come from time to time. The clouds may momentarily obscure the face of the mountain, but the mountain is still there."

That is a charitable way of putting it. American idealism has sunk rather low in these latter decades. There has been a great deal of knowledge without wisdom, and mechanical progress without spiritual enlightenment.

But maybe the war will burn out this dross and chaff, folly and ungodliness. Here at last is something real to fight and die for. And though the losses are lamentable, they will be worth the cost if out of the struggle comes a cleansed and chastened world.

"Need for Women Workers Growing," says the headline. Same old story—women's work is never done.

Political Strife Has Spread | Congressmen Seek to Learn
From Capital Through Nation | Where the Home Folk Stand
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist
● WASHINGTON—With congress in recess at last, Washington is the duller town on the Potomac.
It is not that official activity is lacking. Political strife, however, is spread all over the national landscape, from ocean to ocean and from Canada to Mexico, instead of being concentrated within the small limits of the District of Columbia. This scattering makes a multiplicity of small skirmishes rather than one big battle. The skirmishing is vicious but it is deficient in wholesale spectacularity.
Our World War participation is not an issue. All hands are agreed that this is a job at which we must go the limit. Ex-isolationists are as enthusiastic as anybody else.
True, there are two schools of thought on the war proposition, but they do not differ as to whether or not we ought to fight the Axis for all we are worth, now that we are in on the rumpus. The difference of opinion relates to the question of the competency with which we are doing it.
Opinion
Differs on Technique
Just now Vice President Henry A. Wallace leads the group that says we are bungling, with Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones as chief bungler. Naturally, Jesse heads the opposite faction.
The two make rival charges that the other one is, not to express it immoderately, a "liar."
But that is a matter of detail. Jesse is as pro-war as Henry is. The question of technique is what they are quarreling over. It is a nasty scrap, but Jesse is no more anti-war than Henry is. Wallace and Jones are not "pro" and "anti" war, respectively. Wallace and Jones, instead, are "pro" and "anti" New Dealer. Henry is a "pro" Jesse is an "anti" on the New Deal question.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

ANTAGONISM GIVES HOPE

WASHINGTON—With the invasion of Sicily, the question of whether Germany and Italy can pull together as a team now becomes something much more than a subject of amusing wisecracks. The basic hostility always existing between them—both the armies and the people—may now prove to be the fatal fault in the Axis.

United States diplomats and newsmen who lived interned in Italy until May, 1942, recall many an expression of Italian resentment against the Germans.

On the night before the interned Americans left Rome to return to the U. S., a group of newspapermen, including Richard G. Massock of the Associated Press, visited a restaurant called Biblioteca, which had been a favorite haunt for most of them before the days of internment. The place was packed, largely with Germans, but when the head waiter recognized them, he hustled some diners off, to make room for his old American friends.

An Italian at the next table mumbled something about Germans intruding, whereupon AP's Massock spoke up, "We are not German!" "Excuse me," said the Italian, indicating clearly that to call a man a German is a fighting word.

This prompted another Italian to come to Massock, the first American he had seen for months. With an affectionate embrace he said, "Please give my kind regards to President Roosevelt!"

BLACK HAND FIFTH COLUMN

United States officials who know Sicily suspect there may have been a Sicilian fifth column operating in favor of the Allied invasion forces.

They base this suspicion on the fact that Sicily has always been an insurgent area — "the unreconstructed south" of Italy.

Sicily was the scene of the Mafia Society, known in the United States as the Black Hand. It was more respectable here than there, however, being bitterly anti-Mussolini as the result of Il Duce's successful efforts to drive the Society underground. Members of Mafia were the vigilantes of Sicily, undertaking to settle family feuds and personal problems outside the realm of the law.

The people of Sicily have always called themselves Sicilians, rather than Italians, and they were the last elements of Il Duce's empire to submit to Fascist domination.

These factors explain why some elements of the invading army were openly welcomed and others may have been secretly helped by the Sicilian people.

FLYING SENATORS

For Senator "Happy" Chandler of Kentucky the round-the-world trip of five Senators investigating war conditions will be "unhappy."

A lot of the things he figured on won't come off. In the first place, it will not be a pilgrimage of the Senate Military Affairs Committee alone, but a combination of Military Affairs and the more sober Truman and Senate Appropriations Committees.

Second, the charming Kentuckian will not head the see-the-world probe. Sedate Senator Dick Russell of Georgia will be chairman instead.

Finally, there is the matter of funds. Originally "Happy" Chandler informed his colleagues that the Senate Military Affairs Committee would be the one to pay for it. (Continued on Page Eight)

Summer Complaint Serious

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
SUMMER complaint of infants is much more serious than a complaint. It constitutes a medical emergency and the mother should seek medical advice at the earliest possible moment. In former days these summer diarrheas were the basic cause of our tremendous infantile death rate.

This has largely been overcome, thanks to dairy inspection and pasteurization of milk, but it is by no means completely conquered, and the appearance of fretfulness, restlessness, refusal to nurse, with fever and diarrhea in an infant is still, as has been said above, a medical emergency.
Such conditions—digestive upsets in general—in infants are, however, not always necessarily due to infected milk.

Deficient Stomach Secretion
The newborn infant particularly is susceptible to digestive disturbances because one or the other of its various systems is still in the formative stage and is not working to perfection. Thus a very common digestive upset of the newborn, particularly the premature infant, is due to deficient stomach secretion.
This may allow undigested food to get into the intestines. Especially it may allow pathogenic germs to get into the intestine because the normal secretion of the stomach is acid and tends to kill off or inhibit the growth of these organisms. When the secretion is deficient, they go on into the intestine and produce all the symptoms of ordinary summer complaint—vomiting, fever, voluminous watery stools full of mucus, but no pus.

The newborn infant is particularly likely to infection of certain kinds. It has some passive immunity, derived from the mother to such contagious diseases as measles and chickenpox, which protects it from them for six months or more, but to intestinal infection it has very low immunity. So the utmost precautions are not too much to keep its protection high.

Food May Irritate
Of course, the food itself may be irritating, depending on the individual infant's susceptibility. Even mother's milk is at times to blame—there are frequent instances of laxatives being excreted in the breast milk and producing a diarrhea. Some infants cannot stand the slightest excess of fats, and some cannot stand an excess of starch and sugars. Overfeeding may be the simple cause of some infantile digestive upsets, but I should say this is rare. The infant has more sense than the adult, often, and simply mouths the excess out.

Again, the infant's body is very labile as regards water, body fluid and salt balance. The kidneys often take some time to make adjustments, and these imbalances of fluid are a frequent and obvious cause of digestive upsets.
The treatment is usually plain after the cause has been found, but it is a sufficiently serious condition to call for the best medical advice.

Leave My Heart Alone

BY ADELAIDE HUMPHRIES
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS
KAREN BELL, wealthy and lovely, has been the sweetheart of another member of her rich Florida set, PAUL WYATT, since childhood. However, she surprisingly encounters a young stranger, obviously not of her social standing, and learns that he is MARTIN HALIDAY.
YESTERDAY: Karen invites Martin Haliday to the Festival.

CHAPTER NINE
KAREN HAD resolved that the Festival should be more of a success this year than ever before, and she believed, as the evening wore on, that it was proving to be. Everyone had turned out, everyone seemed in a festive mood, the orchestra was much better than last year, the gardens more beautiful; even the moon seemed bigger and lower and more golden than ever before.

"It's a success, isn't it?" Karen said, finding a few minutes from her duties as hostess to join Paul and watch the merry-making. "Everyone is having a gay time, thoroughly enjoying himself. Look at old Mr. Gardner dancing out there with Nellie Sprague; you'd think he was 18 instead of 80! And all the young girls look so pretty in their light dresses and Cousin Ellen certainly outdid herself with the food, although there's a big dent in it already. Dad is having the time of his life, too, gossiping with all his old cronies and looking as proud as a peacock as if all these guests were his family instead of friends and people from the town. . . . Oh, I'm so glad it's going so well, Paul."

"I imagine you had a finger or two in it," Paul teased, his dark eyes smiling down at her, as they lighted with a pride of his own. "I know how you ran around in circles all week, even to visiting a lot of the older people, to urge them to make the effort to be here, and looking up the best orchestra available and buying all the prizes yourself. So it's really mostly your show, Karen. Which is as it should be tonight."

She knew, of course why he laid the special emphasis on this last, for at midnight her father was going to announce her engagement. There was a sort of suspense in the gay atmosphere, too, as if everyone was aware that something important was going to take place, and therefore all were gay, if possible, than usual. For everyone would consider it a very fine thing, indeed, that Karen Bell and Paul Wyatt were going to marry. All the world loves a lover, and all the assembled guests were in the mood to be delighted and thrilled with romance, to take this young couple, who were so "right" for each other, to their hearts as if they were of one big family.

"Did I remember to tell you that you are by far the prettiest of all the pretty girls here?" Paul asked, giving her arm a tender squeeze. "You hadn't, but since you have, now you are forgiven." Karen smiled up at him from under long, curling lashes. Paul always remembered the little things. He was so dependable in every way. Oh, she was a lucky girl, no doubt of that. But her eyes had been searching all evening for another man. Not that she cared whether Martin Haliday came this evening or not, but you would think after his practically inviting himself that he would be here. So far she had not seen him, nor anyone who looked like him. Maybe he had thought it over and had decided he would feel out of place. Maybe he had felt that to her part of the invitation had been ungracious. Maybe a lot of things, when it came to that odd young man, since there was no telling what went on in his head or what he might do.

He might even be here, prowling around on the outskirts of all the gaiety and lights by himself, or waiting for a chance to speak to her when she was alone, or just plain snooping around, looking things over, since that seemed one of his hobbies. "Do you care to dance?" Paul asked. "Or are you still so occupied with your duties as hostess, seeing that everyone else is having their fun, that you cannot take time out for any yourself?"

"A hostess' duties are serious," Karen rebuked him. "Of course I'd love to dance with you, darling, but you have your responsibilities, too. There's little Eva Parks over there, half in the shadows, just dying to dance, and you know this is not like our club affairs and other parties where we do as we please. So run along, like a good boy, and brighten her life. There's a dear."

"When you look at me like that I'd dance with the bearded lady," Paul returned. "It's easy to see you are going to lead me around by the nose, dearest, and thus brighten my life as a hen-pecked husband. How do you know I won't fall for 'Little Eva' and her maidenly reserve? You don't seem to have a jealous hair in that golden crop of yours." He was amused at Karen's being so serious tonight; it was rather a new turn for her. Yet he liked it in her, too. It was kind of sweet and unselfish.

"You'll never be a doormat," Karen pretended to lament that fact. Paul would not be, but he would always be gallant and considerate and obliging. Goodness, if he knew all the nice things she was thinking about him, making him nearly perfect, which was as it should be, no doubt. Or was she building him up to reassure herself that since he was so nearly perfect there could not possibly be the slightest doubt that he was right for her? But that was doubting, to think that way, even. "Of course I'm not jealous, go off! I wouldn't marry a man I couldn't trust. If Eva, or any other girl, can win you away from me, she's welcome to you. I wouldn't want a man, either, who wanted anyone except myself."

"That goes for me, too," Paul said, his voice suddenly turning on the serious vein as well as hers. "We think alike, darling, in everything, which only goes to prove farther, if proof were needed, that we belong together, you and I. . . . Yes, yes, I'm running, you don't have to push me to get rid of me!"

"I'm not," Karen said, another change taking place in her voice, a new tone that he would not have known how to place. "It's just that I think I see someone whom I ought to make welcome. . . . Yes."

In the Sky
THE PLANETS Mars and Saturn are morning stars right now in the eastern sky at dawn. Mars rises a little before midnight and is conspicuous during the rest of the night. It is very easy to pick out because of its reddish color which is caused by the oxidation of iron on its surface, or, in other words, simply by rusting. Saturn appears over the horizon a couple of hours before sunrise.

Saturn is about 15 degrees to the northeast of Aldebaran, and Mars about 30 degrees west of the same star. Aldebaran can be found by locating the V in the face of Taurus the Bull. The easternmost tip of the V is Aldebaran.
To the west of the V (which, with the exception of Aldebaran, is made up of stars known as the Hyades) are the Pleiades. Aldebaran received its name, which means The Follower, from the fact that it follows the Pleiades into the sky. These stars were thought by early star-gazers to be very important in connection with weather.

The evening star at the present time is Venus. Jupiter is too close to the sun to be seen well.

Country Club Scene Of Sunday Buffet Supper

50 Present for Delightful Program

About 50 guests, members of the Pickaway Country club and their families, were entertained at a delightful buffet supper Sunday at the club, Washington township. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson of Columbus attended the affair as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Smith Jr., South Court street.

An arrangement of Summer flowers centered the buffet table in the dining room, the guests being seated at small tables on the large porch during the supper hour.

Golf and other outdoor games were enjoyed during the afternoon and an informal social hour on the lawn occupied the guests during the evening. This was the first of a series of similar affairs planned for the entertainment of club members during the Summer.

The next bridge luncheon, second of a series for the women members of the club and out-of-town guests, will be Thursday, July 29, instead of Tuesday, July 27, as planned. The party is postponed because of the visit of the Red Cross Blood Donor Unit to Circleville during the first two days of that week. Reservations for the luncheon should be made by July 27.

The social events of the club are sponsored by the house committee comprised of Mrs. J. E. Groom, chairman, Mrs. P. C. Koutzahn, Mrs. Clark Will, Mrs. T. D. Harman, Jr., Mrs. T. O. Gilliland, Mrs. H. O. Grant and Mrs. D. A. Yates.

Albright-Kinsler Nuptials
Miss Mary E. Kinsler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Kinsler of Jackson township, became the bride of Daniel H. Albright in a quiet service Sunday, July 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Albright, 118 South Pickaway street, parents of the bridegroom. The Rev. J. E. Huston, pastor of the First United Brethren church, read the single ring ceremony at 9 p. m.

Miss Kinsler chose a suit of brown silk shantung for her wedding and complemented it with white accessories. Her only jewelry was a gold locket, the gift of the bridegroom.

The attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodward of this city. Mrs. Woodward is the only sister of Mr. Albright.

The bride is a former employee of the Curtis-Wright corporation of Columbus. Mr. Wright is employed at the city sewage disposal plant as an electrician. For the present he and his bride will live at the Albright home, South Pickaway street.

Mr. Mrs. Ankrom Hosts
Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ankrom of South Court street were hosts at dinner Sunday at their home, the affair complimenting their son, J. Allen Ankrom, petty officer, carrier's mate, second class, of Willow Grove, Pa. Other guests were the Misses Dorothea and Betty Marshall, Jackson township; Miss Norma Jean Penn and Ellis Norman, Pickaway township; Marvin Marshall, Washington township, and I. C. Walker, Circleville.

NEWS OF OUR MEN and WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford have received a letter from their son, Wallace (Babe) Crawford, that the ship on which he has been serving has just completed a long journey, informing that he had been in Asia. What part of Asia was not disclosed. Young Crawford is a member of the navy gun crew on a merchant vessel. He has two brothers in the navy, both of whom are now taking training which will lead them to petty officer ratings.

Private Charles J. French was a new address: Company A, 72nd replacement battalion, F. A. R. T. C., Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Gunner's Mate Clark Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hildegarth Martin, writes his parents that he had been named a third class petty officer. Martin is aboard a United States cruiser in foreign waters. The news of his promotion came to his parents in the form of a V-letter.

Private First Class William H. Cummins has returned to Camp Swift, Texas, after a 10-day furlough with his parents and his wife and daughter. Cummins is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cummins.

Second Lieutenant Lloyd E. Rinehart, ASN 0-1110214, has been sent to a foreign station, his mail being addressed now to APO 4710, care of the postmaster, San Francisco, Cal. Rinehart is a native of Harrison township.

Mr. and Mrs. Berman Calvert of Madison township have received word from their sons, Berman Rey Calvert, pharmacist's mate in the navy, stationed at Pensacola, Fla., that he will be graduated from the navy hospital Tuesday. He and his wife will leave Wednesday for Farragut, Idaho, where he will be assigned to hospital duty at a naval air base near the Canadian border. The trip will consist of 3,000 miles of travel, the couple hoping to be able to stop in Pickaway county for a short time.

Some wheat of the present year crop has been received at both the grain elevators with not much of it up to standard in quality. Some not fit for milling but will do for stock feed if the consuming animals are not too discriminating about their eats. This week will near complete field threshing. Now something about the corn and that bad worm borer that is doing much damage to the growing crop, which because of the excessive rains had anything but favorable weather to get a start in growing. Have talked to several farmers in the last few days and in some places the borers are doing much damage and in others, none. The early sweet corn crop for the local Crites cannery, is much infested by the borer, but just how much damage is being done effecting the yield at packing time, cannot be determined now, Melhard Crites told us. But there will be some corn, he said.

Ed Ett was a weekend visitor here, coming from the home of his son Harold and family at Worthington. A few acres of good garden soil is connected with the Ett residence and here is where Ed is putting his knowledge of gardening in force, raising a whole lot of all kinds of choice vegetables. Being located on a prominent highway, these are sold at their roadside stand.

Joe Higley, who underwent a major operation at a Chicago hospital a few days ago, is reported as doing nicely by his parents here. Prof. and Mrs. Higley... Mrs. Walter Neubauer, near Marcy, in Grant hospital for several days recovering from an operation, is doing well... The venerable Jerome Peters, St. Paul, who has been in a serious condition for the last several days as a result of a fall in the home, is showing some improvement. He is nearing his 95 birthday which is August 22.

Ashville—
The village council will be in session this evening paying bills and making plans for the doing of this and that which may need attention. Material for street improvement work cannot be obtained they tell us.

Brooklyn Activity May Exert Influence Over Two Major Loop Races

By Lawton Carver
 NEW YORK, July 19 — The Brooklyn Dodgers, it seems, are the kind of a ball club that cannot stay within a small sphere of action. In addition to tending to their own share of the National League pennant race, the Dodgers, through the shufflings-off of Joe Medwick and Bobo Newsom, are exerting influence on both leagues.

This peculiar situation, brought about by the rebellion of Newsom, who was sent to the St. Louis Browns, and the apparent failure of Medwick, who was taken up by the New York Giants, might see the bringing about of tremendous changes. Should Medwick connect at the plate, he could easily be an important factor in driving the Giants out of the cellar, in which they are reported resting comfortably and, apparently, permanently. Newsom has said he could pitch the fourth place Browns to a pennant, and he might do it at that.

Another club which has benefited from a Dodgers' deal are the Philadelphia Phillies, for whom Babe Dahlgren is swinging a wicked stick. Although the Phillies won't get within swinging distance of the 1943 pennant, they are on their way to being a more financially sound club than ever before. Players of Dahlgren's calibre are invaluable in increasing the popularity of a club like the Phillies, who have become so used to being pushed around as a pack of nonentities that they developed round heels.

Track experts are beginning to wonder just how much Gunder Hagg is running competition when he insists on choosing his own distance in races. Of course, it might be just the old malarkey, but I understand that when a one-miler, such as Gil Dodds, trains for the two-mile run, he develops what amounts to a new set of running muscles.

If this is the case, then both Dodds and Two-Miler Greg Rice are ruined as competitors for Gunder the Wonder. Hagg could beat Dodds hands down (or hands up as he did Saturday, breaking the tape while waving to the crowd) and with this on-again-off-again training that Dodds has been getting, it is a cinch for Hagg.

It will be very interesting to see what will happen when Rice, the superb two-miler, trains for the two mile, his specialty, and runs against Hagg. If he runs another three-mile race against Hagg, Rice will have to recuperate for three months. The terrific havoc worked on Rice in his initial loss to Hagg, running at a distance for which he has no great liking, and for which he was not finely trained, was apparent to even the casual observer.

It takes all kinds of people to make a world, but most of them leave the job for somebody else.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPE

Broccoli—A Valuable Addition to Victory Garden

By DEAN HALIDAY
 Released by Central Press Association

BROCCOLI is an excellent vegetable which is becoming better known among Americans now that vitamins are playing such an important part in our daily nutritional requirements. Broccoli is an excellent source of vitamins A, B1, B2 and C.

Broccoli is an erect growing plant which forms a center head first. As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, this cluster of green flower buds (for that is what it really is) should be cut out as soon as it is ready and large enough for table use. The cutting out of the center head causes the side shoots of the plant to throw out numerous edible flower heads, as illustrated. These in turn should be cut off and used, for this will keep the plant growing and producing many more heads up to the time of freezing weather.

When young plants are placed in the garden they should be kept well cultivated, but later, as the plants develop the roots spread out in all directions and are close to the surface. Then cultivation should only be of the shallow type and farther away from the plants so as not to disturb the root systems.

A feeding of fertilizer can be given just as the heads of broccoli begin to develop.

BIGGEST GOLF MEET OF YEAR STARTS MONDAY

CHICAGO, July 19 — The curtain rang up today on the greatest golf spectacle of the year, and probably for the duration, a three-in-one extravaganza combining the $10,750 All-American open, the All-American amateur and the All-American women's open tournament.

The seven-day show winds up next Sunday with the finals in the All-American Open and the women's event.

The amateurs set out this morning on the first 18-hole medal play qualifying round at the beautiful Tam O'Shanter club, which is sponsoring the pretentious triple-header tournament.

A difficult qualifying requirement for the early starters was piling out of bed around dawn in order to be on hand when the first batch of players teed off at 7 a. m. Some of the late starters probably will be still at it when darkness falls tonight.

Out of the 36-hole amateur qualifying play will come the 64 low scorers who will go to work against each other with a pair of 18-hole matches Wednesday followed by another pair of the same Thursday.

The semi-finalists will go 36 holes Friday and the finalists another 36 holes Saturday. While all this is going on, the 155 professionals, except those exempted by their past performances, will take part in a special 18-hole qualifying round Wednesday to determine the remaining places in the open field not taken by the exempt professionals and the 64 amateur qualifiers.

Among the favorites in the amateur ranks were Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., Art Doering of Tam O'Shanter, Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh, and Dale Morey of Martindale, Ind., newly crowned Hoosier state champion.

Wehrle was runner-up last year to Lieut. Bud Ward of the army air force, winner of the 1942 All-American amateur title. Ward will not defend his title this year.

Sergeant Joe Louis, world heavyweight boxing champion, was one of the entrants in the amateur event. He was scheduled to start play at 2:24 this afternoon.

A galaxy of professional stars was entered for the Open event, among them Byron Nelson, winner of the first two All-Americans, in 1941 and 1942. Nelson was expected to arrive Wednesday.

U. D. QUILTS FOOTBALL

DETROIT, July 19 — Another war-time sports casualty was revealed today as the University of Detroit decided to drop football for the duration. "Lack of manpower" was the reason for the decision, said Lloyd Brazil, athletic director, in making the announcement yesterday.

YANKEES MOVE FARTHER AWAY FROM A. L. FOES

New Yorkers Score Eight In Row; Rookie Bill Johnson Clouts

By John Cashman

NEW YORK, JULY 19 — Less than two months ago, the New York Yankees were regarded with mild derision as a club destined for the scrap pile. After losing the American League lead on their first Western swing, the worst in New York's history since 1908, the rest of the circuit rubbed hands and smiled slyly over what looked like a soft touch in the climb toward the pennant.

Today, the Yankees' rivals are a little less than gleeful. Instead, they are clambering all over each other in a pennant race that is still fairly tight, but the Yankees are increasing the length of their strides. Yesterday the Yankees extended their winning streak to eight straight, the 12th victory in 13 starts, by sweeping both ends of a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 2 and 4 to 3, thereby getting a firmer grip on the lead.

A burst of batting power by Rookie Infielder Bill Johnson turned the trick. Johnson batted in four runs in the opener, three on a homer, to give Ernie Bonham his ninth victory. Then, in the nightcap, Johnson singled in the tying run in the ninth with two out, the Yankees then going on to win in the tenth.

Senators Cop Pair

The Yankee triumphs must have been pretty discouraging to the Washington Senators, who took both ends of a twin bill from the Boston Red Sox, 9 to 2 and 5 to 4, but could not whittle down their games - behind column in second place. George Case batted in four runs in the opener, and in the nightcap, made a brilliant catch of Bobby Doerr's liner in the seventh that highlighted the game.

The Chicago White Sox gave the Detroit Tigers a 12 to 4 thrashing in the first game of a double-header, but the Tigers clawed back in the second, 4 to 1. Three Tiger twirlers were hammered for 18 hits in the opener, while Luke Appling smacked three singles in three official times at bat for three runs.

The Cleveland Indians scalped the St. Louis Browns in both ends of a twin bill, 4 to 3 and 10 to 7. Bobo Newsom, pitching his first game for the Browns since being exiled there by the Brooklyn Dodgers, was jerked out in the third inning of the nightcap, a frame that saw seven Cleveland runs.

The longest game in the history of baseball started yesterday, the final results of which will not be known until September 13. This was the Dodgers - Boston Braves nightcap of a doubleheader. After the Dodgers took the first game, 8 to 5 in 11 innings, the second game was halted because of the curfew, and under the new "suspension" rules will be played off September 13 from that point at which it was stopped. The clubs are tied up in this contest, 4 to 4.

Another such suspended game occurred in the nightcap of the St. Louis Cardinals-Pittsburgh Pirates double-header, after the Cards took the opener, 7 to 4. This game will be resumed on September 1. Mort Cooper chalked up his 12th triumph in the opener, although the Pirates threatened to mutiny several times. The nightcap was halted at the end of the seventh inning with the Cards leading, 6 to 5.

Giants Want Freedom

The New York Giants started a drive to release themselves from the National League cellar by whipping the Philadelphia Phillies in both ends of a double-header, 10 to 6 and 3 to 2. The Giants blasted out 19 hits in the curtain raiser, and in the afterpiece Ken Chase bested Anton Karl in a hurling duel.

The Chicago Cubs were moved that much farther away from the cellar when they won both halves

INDIANS SPLIT RETAIN LEAD IN HOT A. A. CHASE

By International News Service
 The Indianapolis Indians today held their one game lead in the American Association pennant race by virtue of splitting yesterday's doubleheader with Milwaukee. The Hoosiers took the first game of the bill 6 to 3 but found themselves on the losing end of the seven-inning nightcap behind the pitching of Joe Berry.

At Columbus, the Red Birds won both games of the twin bill with St. Paul as some 4,707 spectators witnessed the last game of the current home stay of the Birds. Kenny Burkhardt took over the mound in the first fray which resulted in an 8 to 2 score. In the nightcap, Jack Creel allowed the Apostles only five scattered hits which ended with a 4 to 0 score.

Minneapolis and Toledo broke even on their double-header when was played on the latter team's home grounds. The Millers took the opener 5 to 2 but the Hens rallied to win the second game 8 to 5. The largest crowd of the season, 6,020 witnessed the contests.

The Louisville Colonels, meanwhile vaulted into sixth place in the standings by taking both of yesterday's games with the Kansas City Blues. Norman Brown took credit for the opener when he pitched the Colonels to their 2 to 0 win in his first shutout of the season. In the second fray the Blues swatted Joe Bowman and Emmett O'Neil for eight bingles. O'Neil took over the mound in the third stanza.

YOGI MAN WILL FIGHT SAVOLD IN CHICAGO FRACAS

CHICAGO, July 19 — The veteran Yogi man of the ring, Lou Nova, will need more than his crystal ball and his other contacts with the spirit world the night of August 9 when he climbs into the ring against the Chicago favorite, Lee Savold.

Lou, reported in top shape after a stint of training on his Van Nuys, Cal., ranch will reach Chicago next week to round into peak form for his second shot at the Paterson, N. J., heavyweight, who holds a technical knockout over him.

Nova was out in front in that fight in Washington last year with Lee, but Savold clipped him a beauty on the forehead midway in the going and cut him so badly the fight had to be stopped.

Savold sold himself to Chicago afns several months ago when he twice hauled his frame off the floor, where it had been planted by Lem Franklin, to come on and whip the washed up Cleveland Negro.

The August 9 match at Wrigley Field is unique in that it brings together two white heavyweight contenders ranked in the nation's top 10.

LONDON—Such things as bent nails and used bus and trolley tickets are used in the construction of the giant RAF Lancaster bombers, according to Colonel Mitchell, a member of Parliament, in a speech at Manchester. He urged a paper-collecting campaign throughout the country. One thousand component parts of the Lancaster, he said, are made from a paper base. This is a ratio of one to five, of all the elements making up the aircraft.

of a twin bill from the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1 and 7 to 0. Claude Passeau yielding eight hits for the twirling victory while Johnny Vander Meer, who was tabbed for the loss allowed only seven bingles. The Cubs then went on to pound Bucky Walters and Clyde Shoun for 14 hits.

MOORE AND DURANTE

Gary Moore told Jimmy Durante that inasmuch as he's now a radio star he should start saving for a rainy day. Durante said it was silly, that stars weren't out when it rains. They'll continue their wrangling on the giggle revue over NBC Thursday, July 29, at 10 p. m. Between laughs there'll be singing by Georgia Gibbs and music by Xavier Cugat's orchestra.

LEON HENDERSON

Leon Henderson, former director of the Office of Price Administration, has already been mentioned to have his own radio series on a national network. Now he has also accepted the post of economic adviser on post-war problems to the Blawie Company and its clients. This is the agency that handles such air programs as Charles Martin's Playhouse, Johnny Presents Ginny Simms, Crime Doctor and Take It or Leave It. It marks Henderson's first association with an advertising company and he will assume his duties at once.

RADIO BRIEFS

Author Agnes Smedley was Mary Margaret McBride's NBC guest to tell about her experiences in the Red Cross Medical Corps in China. The 11-year-old boy assigned to her as orderly heard her complain of lice one day and said: "It is only when you have a few lice that you are bothered. When you have many, you do not notice." But with the royalties from her book she set up a delousing station which she has since heard is known as the Smedley Delousing Station! However, it's not for critics, Agnes hastened to add.

Victor Borge reports a Hollywood catastrophe. A famous movie star's secretary didn't keep her records straight and now finds the glamour queen had two more divorces than she's had weddings.

Ginny Simms, whose NBC "Johnny Presents" show features members of the armed forces each Tuesday night, will make a slight departure from the custom on July 20 when her guest will be a civilian pilot—Barbara Jane Erickson, of the Women's Auxiliary Ferry Squadron. Miss Erickson of Seattle, Washington, will telephone her Flight Instructor, L. R. Kurtzer in Yakima, Washington, with the phone call being broadcast over the air.

Max Marcin, the "Crime Doctor" author, knows a faraway island where there are no taxes, unemployment, crime, beggars, jazz bands, radios or inhabitants.

Radio's "Blondie" and her "Dagwood" pitched in together to buy officer's binoculars for William R. Moore, their program's advertising agency executive, who resigned last week to take his naval officer indoctrination course.

Cass Daley and Bing Crosby, who have been clowning together on Bing's air program many times during the past several months, are planning some humorous duets on platters if and when the ban comes off record making.

Newest radio romance in Hollywood is that of Shirley Mitchell, heard on the Fred Brady show, and Paul Weston, young music composer with the Johnny Mercer program.

The Sportsmen quartet, radio vocalists over twelve network programs weekly, have signed for appearance in the new Republic picture, "Here Comes Elmer," starring Al Pearce.

State Highway Department Pledges Help For Canneries

TRUCKS AND MEN AVAILABLE FOR RUSH SEASON

Harvest And Transportation Aid Arranged By Chief Of Ohio Division

HEDGES TO MAKE PLANS

Equipment And Workers To Be Listed Before Harvest Starts

Pickaway county canneries, as well as canning factories in other parts of Ohio, were pledged assistance Monday by the state highway department in handling the corn pack scheduled to start in the next 10 days.

The highway department through its director, Hal G. Sours, informed Senator Evert Addison of Columbus, representing Pickaway and Franklin counties in the Ohio upper house, that help for farmers and packers will be provided. Mr. Addison made his request following a conference with canners' representatives, among them being James I. Smith, Jr., manager of the Esmeralda Canning Co. and a former president of the Ohio Canners' association, and Roy Irons, of Clyde, secretary of the canners' organization. Harry T. Reese, South Bloomfield, president of the Township Trustees' association, also was active in the interest of the project.

Sours Plans Aid
Under tentative arrangements completed by Mr. Sours and the canning industry spokesmen the highway department will provide as many trucks and men as can be spared from work on the roads so that growers will be helped in harvesting sweet corn and in transporting the crops to the factories.

Details in each canning producing county will be worked out by the highway department superintendent, Richard Hedges, of near Ashville, filling that position here. Use of the highway department's equipment will not interfere with work on the highways. Hours are to be staggered and in that manner both personnel and equipment will do a day's work on the highways before going into the corn fields to provide assistance.

The corn harvest in Ohio will be conducted between August 1 and September 25. Highway department equipment will also be made available in tomato-producing counties, this pack to be carried on between August 15 and October 15.

Tractors And Farmers

Only a month ago the highway department turned over tractors and operators to Ohio farmers to aid them in preparing their fields for corn and soybean planting. Nearly 200 state-owned tractors plowed, disked and harrowed 10,000 acres of land in two weeks time. Some of this land, including numerous acres in Pickaway county, would not have been cultivated possibly because of the backward season and a shortage of farm labor and equipment.

Every county highway superintendent is expected to compile a list of men and equipment available for use by the farmers and factories. Among the personnel those men who may have had experience on farms or in canneries are to be first chosen.

Counties in which aid will be provided in addition to Pickaway are Hamilton, Warren, Fayette, Lorain, Medina, Miami, Auglaize, Allen, Williams, Lucas, Sandusky, Huron, Highland, Clinton, Franklin, Ashtabula, Montgomery,

SHERIFF WARNS COAL BUYERS OF GYP DEALERS

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff issued a warning Monday to local persons who buy coal in large quantities to buy only from persons with whom they are acquainted.

The sheriff took his action following the second "hoaxing" to come to light in the last two months when Wayne Martin, Lovers Lane, paid more than $100 for what he supposed were 16 tons of West Virginia coal. As it turned out Mr. Martin had bought Ohio coal and had received not more than 10 tons.

Edward Williams, Jr., 23, of Wellston, was fined $25 and costs Monday by Squire B. T. Hedges and was also given a 10-day jail term after he admitted failing to give Mr. Martin sales tax stamps in the coal transaction.

Williams was in charge of the truck which hauled coal to the Martin residence. He showed the customer, the sheriff said, weight slips which claimed the coal to be from West Virginia, and which also showed 16 tons delivered. The weight slips were falsified, the sheriff said.

Sunday, the owner of the truck, whose name was not learned by the sheriff, appeared at the Martin home and paid back $57.88 of the amount received for the coal, declaring to the sheriff that he felt himself to blame also for the local man's hoaxing.

"There is a lot of this kind of work going on," the sheriff declared, "and the only way to stop it is by persons who need coal buying only from persons with whom they are acquainted."

Work Parley Called

In addition to aid of the highway department, manpower assistance is being recruited in communities which have canning factories, many persons being asked to volunteer for canning factory work during the corn rush. A meeting will be held in the courthouse Employment Service office Friday evening to be presided over by Mayor Ben H. Gordon at which time volunteers will be sought. The canning factories in the county are faced with a grave situation.

A similar meeting will be held Wednesday evening in Ashville where a representative of the Employment Service's Columbus office will appear.

Canners are expecting an average pack this year, weather the last few days being favorable.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

The thoughts of the righteous are right: but the counsels of the wicked are deceit. - Proverbs 12:5.

Guy Rush, who lives in the rear of 138 West Main street, suffered a painful leg injury Sunday night when he stepped on a grating over a cellar window in the Seitz building and fell through the hole. Rush was treated at his home.

Blenn Stevenson, manager of the North Court street Pure Oil Co. gasoline station, reported to police Saturday that 200 "A" gasoline stamps had been stolen from a drawer at the service station. The theft took place between morning and noon Saturday, police were told.

W. E. Wallace, North Court street, attended the Monday session of the two-day war conference of the Ohio Bakers' association which opened Sunday at the Desher-Wallick hotel, Columbus. Rationing and manpower were the principal problems up for discussion.

Mrs. J. R. Downs, 230 Watt street, was removed Sunday to University hospital, Columbus, for observation and treatment.

Mrs. Balton Thompson, who is recovering after major surgery, was taken Sunday from Mercy hospital, Columbus, to her home in Jackson township.

Harold Dresbach, Wayne Leist and Ed Schreiner left Circleville Sunday by automobile for San Diego, Cal. Mr. Dresbach, who has been employed by the Crites canning interests, expects to join an orchestra; Mr. Leist will visit his son, Walter, at Camp Haan, and Mr. Schreiner will spend some time in California for his health.

Mrs. Wilbur Funk Jr., North Scioto street, has been returned home from St. Anthony's hospital, Columbus, where she had been for observation and treatment.

Mrs. Ida Farrell was removed Saturday from her home, East Mound street, to St. Clair Rest Home, Columbus, for treatment.

Robert Lee Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison, Wayne township, and Viola Speakman, daughter of Otis Speakman, Wayne township, underwent tonsil operations Monday in Berger hospital.

Mrs. Norman Pifer of East Lansing, Mich., who became ill when traveling through Circleville, was released from Berger hospital Sunday after receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. Bryan Ruffie and son of Pickaway township were taken home Sunday from Berger hospital.

TEACHER EMPLOYED

Mrs. Gene Rader Joseph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Rader, Northridge road, has been employed to teach an elementary grade by the Lancaster board of education. Mrs. Joseph, whose husband is in service, is a Circleville high school graduate and Ohio State university graduate. She taught last year in Marion, O.

LOCAL STUDENTS SIX ARRESTED AMONG LEADERS BY POLICE ON DRUNK CHARGES AT OHIO STATE

Numerous Circleville and Pickaway county students at Ohio State university are included in honor roll lists announced Monday by the university.

Included are Eleanor McDill, Circleville, who made an average of better than B in all three quarters in the college of education; William C. Martin of Ashville, who is on the Spring quarter honor roll in the school of engineering; and Robert L. Brehmer, Jr., of Circleville, who won similar honors; James K. Reichelderfer of Circleville, who had a classroom average of better than B in the college of commerce and administration; and Marian E. Belt of Scioto township, whose average was higher than B in the college of agriculture Spring quarter.

Circleville police did their usual "run of mine" business during the week end with at least six persons being ordered into jail on intoxication charges. One of them, John Clelland, 71, of Ashville, was charged with driving when intoxicated. He put up $103 bond Sunday for release pending hearing.

Others who found their way to city jail cells at least long enough to sober up some before giving bonds for release were Thomas Ferguson, 41, of West Liberty, Ky., who posted $5; Pearl Messmore, 22, Orient, Route 1, who posted $10; Thomas Powell, 34, Orient Route 1, freed on $10 bond; William Anderson, 36, East Mound street, $5 bond, and William Duey, 53, Lovers Lane, who was held pending hearing.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

fairs Committee had $3,000 to spend for the trip's expenses. Then one day Senator Chan Gurney of South Dakota, Republican member of the Military Affairs Committee, tackled Republican members of the Truman Committee in the cloak room.

"I would go a little slow on that $3,000 'Happy' Chandler promised, if I were you."

"Why?" asked Senator Brewster of Maine.

"Because you can't spend it outside the Western Hemisphere," replied Gurney. "The Committee attached a proviso that not a cent could be spent for travel outside the Americas."

So since the flying senators will spend all their time in Africa, Asia, Australia, and Europe, the only chance they will have to spend "Unhappy" Chandler's committee money is when they are about to hop off from Miami or land at San Francisco.

However, Chandler may feel a little happier over the fact that the Army is sending with him a high-ranking army doctor and old friend, Brig. Gen. Fred W. Rankin.

Actually, the investigating committee can and will do some important work in eliminating the same kind of friction among agencies at the war front that exists in Washington. The BEW, Jesse Jones' RFC, and Cordell Hull's diplomats unfortunately have not confined their rowing to Washington. It will especially investigate reports that American-built airports in foreign countries will be turned over to those countries six months after the war; also the importance of using British oil reserves in the Middle East instead of draining U. S. supplies; and reports that civilian supplies in North Africa have been distributed through French-Fascist agencies.

So it is expected that Senator Russell, Brewster and Mead of New York will dig into these matters thoroughly. This should leave Chandler plenty of time to do the handshaking.

Note: When "Happy" Chandler and a sub-committee air-junketed to Alaska last Summer he got $3,000 expense money from the Senate Military Affairs Committee and submitted a rough expense account of $2,900, despite the fact that most of his air travel was paid for by the government, and his sub-committee was frequently entertained at officers' clubs.

MEAT BOOTLEGGING

The meat shortage is giving rise to backyard slaughtering of cattle and hogs, which is about as safe and sanitary as production of prohibition "bathtub gin."

War Food Administration is trying to force observation of the livestock permit order by making lurid examples of persons caught slaughtering without permit.

Lurid enough was the case of Theologus Grillis, operator of Grillis Grill, in Jackson, Miss., who ran short of pork to feed his customers, and solved his problem by slaughtering a hog that was diseased.

Grillis pleaded guilty, and was fined $5,000 for killing livestock without a permit. The meat was condemned and destroyed.

Government inspectors are out looking for other offenders.

RATION BOARD NEARS CLOSE OF GAS BOOK ISSUE

The end of another heavy task was in sight Monday for the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office with more than 5,500 new "A" gasoline ration books issued to motorists of the city and county who have properly filed renewal applications. Present "A" coupons are invalid after Wednesday.

Elmer Stebleton, chief clerk of the office, said Monday that all applications received prior to last Friday have been processed and new ration books have been sent to automobile owners. There are about 200 to process Monday and Tuesday, these being filed since Friday. Several hundred other motorists have not yet filed applications, Stebleton said, and as a result they will not be able to obtain gasoline under the government rationing program.

The board clerk expressed thanks Monday to the numerous organizations and individuals coming to the aid of the ration board in processing the "A" ration coupons. "The job was a big one," Mr. Stebleton said, "and we certainly appreciate the volunteer help given us."

WALLACE BARR, JR., TAKES JOB AS VO-AG TEACHER

Wallace Barr, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Barr of Amanda, has accepted a position as vocational agriculture instructor at Huntsville and Lewiston, O., and has already gone there to assume his duties.

Young Barr was graduated in 1939 from Amanda high school and received his bachelor of science in agriculture degree June 11 from Ohio State university.

TEACHERS GET INVITATION TO OHIO INSTITUTE

Circleville and Pickaway county elementary teachers are being invited by Ohio State university to attend an elementary institute opening July 26 at the school. The elementary institute follows closely on the administrator's institute held last week. This institute was attended by numerous Pickaway county school superintendents and principals.

The elementary meeting will be conducted by the school's college of education in cooperation with the state department of education. Joint directors are Dr. Laura Zirbes and Harold G. Shane.

On opening day teachers registering will go first to University School to hear an outline of the day's conducted observations and staff conferences. Program for the course, which lasts three days, will include panel discussions on child guidance and creative learning, as well as demonstrations and talks on the uses of resources in science, art and music in the elementary school.

TRUCK TIRE FOUND

Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff is trying to find the owner of a truck tire and wheel, found near Circleville two months ago. At that time the sheriff asked any person who might have lost a tire and wheel to appear at the sheriff's office in an effort to identify it. The sheriff said the tire is almost as good as new.
